Dear Friends

Education Live was a great success. In total we had 31,000 individuals tuning in, 159,000 impressions across our social media, and 130 countries participating. Thank you to all who tuned in to watch and to those who shared the live event with their constituents.

Please find our Education Live 24 January digital report here.

On 27 February we have our show 'Narrative – Helping the World', where we will be presenting a series of incredible thoughts from amazing individuals from all over the world who are using constructive narrative to inform, inspire and engage in relation to humanity's survival.

Please tune in at 6pm GMT to see the Under-Secretary-General for Global Communications at the United Nations Melissa Fleming, Author Lucy Turner, Actor and Activist Hakeem-Kae Kazim, Actor Bessie Carter and Actor Nahel Tzegai share their thoughts on the importance of constructive narrative. It is going to be inspirational.

Also tune in on 21 March, for Anti-Racism Live on The International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination. We will be bringing together speakers, activists, actors and musicians from all over the world to manifest action for a more equal and just world.

Please do register to Peace One Day and become part of our incredible community. Your support allows us to continue sharing these unbelievable stories to those all over the world.

Warm regards

In peace

Jeremy
